

IS_MIRRI21 virtual events: Matchmaking for Horizon Europe opportunities and MIRRI membership

AGENDAS

Webinar

MIRRI Membership: Boosting research and innovation in Health, Agro-food, Environment and Energy

15 June 2021, 14:00-15:15 CEST

Hosts and speakers

University of Minho (UMinho), Sociedade Portuguesa de Inovação (SPI), Institute of Agricultural and Food Biotechnology (IAFB) and Portugal-Europe R&I Network (IAFB)

Key speakers

Nelson Lima (UMinho), Joanna Bucka-Kolendo (IAFB), and Daniel Carapau (PERIN)

Aim

The webinar will be launched in connection with the RI-VIS Latin America - Europe Symposium on Research Infrastructures (15-17 June 2021). The webinar aims to bring the added-value of MIRRI to light and encourage international cooperation among research infrastructures in Europe and Latin America. The session will also take the opportunity to briefly present funding sources, i.e., Horizon Europe, that are currently available to facilitate cross-continental collaboration.

Who can join?

The webinar is open to all participants that harbour interest in learning more about European RIs, in particular, MIRRI as a pan-European RI. The main beneficiaries of the webinar are foreseen to be potential members of MIRRI including mBRCs, CCs, universities, research institutions, experts from biosciences and bioindustries, policy makers and government representatives addressing Research and Development.

Workshop

International collaboration with MIRRI through new opportunities from the Horizon Europe programme

17 June 2021, 14:00-16:00 CEST

Hosts

University of Minho (UMinho) and Sociedade Portuguesa de Inovação (SPI)

Key presenters

Nelson Lima (UMinho), Rosa Aznar (University of Valencia, UVEG-CECT), Gerard Verkleij (Koninklijke Nederlandse Akademie Van Wetenschappen, KNAW), and Isabel Carvalho Oliveira, Maria João Fernandes, and Cristiana Leandro (PERIN)

Aim

The workshop will be launched in connection with the RI-VIS Latin America - Europe Symposium on Research Infrastructures (15-17 June 2021). The key objectives of this workshop are as follows.

- Provide an overview of the opportunities presented in Horizon Europe that correlate to the domains of MIRRI: Health & Food, Agro-Food, and Environment & Energy;
- Present an overview of MIRRI's Strategic Research and Innovation Agenda for 2021-2030;
- Formulate synergies among different innovation actors in the above-mentioned domains with the aim of jointly pursuing relevant Horizon Europe calls.

The workshop will prove MIRRI's capability as a key player in the global ecosystem of scientific research, innovation and development. The yield of the event will be the opening of doors for collaboration between international innovation actors in Europe and Latin America through the identification of common interests and complementarities in resource provision to pursue funding opportunities.

Target audiences

The workshop is open to anyone who demonstrates interest in international cooperation in the areas of Health & Food, Agro-Food, and Environment & Energy and funding opportunities in Europe. However, the main beneficiaries include scientific research infrastructures and academic institutes, experts from bioindustry sectors, policy makers and government/Member State representatives addressing Research and Development, students and researchers from life sciences and biotechnology, microbial Biological Resource Centres (mBRCs) and Culture Collections (CC).
